SCORN USING MASKS*MICHIGAN BANDITS ROB A PAS-SENGER TRAIN.

Express On the Chicago & Michigan Due in Grand Rapids at 10:30 Held Up Near Fennville—Total Amount of Cash Booty Was Seven Dollars.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 21.—Four men held up the Chicago and West Michigan express passenger train, from Chicago, due here at 10:30, and known as the "Flyer," at 9 o'clock last night. The net proceeds from their enterprise were $7 in cash and two silver watches.

The train was rushing through on time, with Engineer Dibble at the throttle and Conductor E. E. Rice in charge. Two and a half miles this side of Fennville the road passes through a stretch of woods and a gully. As the train approached a white light was seen waving across the track, and, taking it as a danger signal, Engineer Dibble put on the brakes. As he approached he saw by the reflection of the headlight that the track was obstructed with a pile of ties.

A volley into the cab of the engine was the first intimation of the character of the gang. They then told the two trainmen to come out of the engine, but Engineer Dibble responded that they could shoot, but he wouldn't come down, and he didn't.

Conductor Rice heard the commotion, and, stepping out on the platform, inquired what was the matter. He was answered with a volley, and he immediately stepped back into the car, locked the door after him, and deposited his pocket book in the stove. He came out later and had a talk with the robbers. When Brakeman Timothy Murphy felt the train stop he grabbed his lantern, jumped off the rear platform without knowing what was the matter, and ran back to flag any train that might be coming. The gang saw him go and fired at him. He was wounded in the thigh painfully but not seriously, and is in the hospital here.

The gang, after quieting the trainmen, demanded admission to the baggage car. Baggage Van Etten was alone in the car, and when he heard the firing he bolted the door and refused to open it. The gang placed a stick of dynamite under the side door and exploded it, blowing the door half off. Then the baggageman let the robbers in. Two of them entered, leaving the others outside on guard, and demanded that the strong box be opened and its contents placed at their disposal. Van Etten pointed out the box, but did not have the key.

Another stick of dynamite judiciously applied opened the box, and then the air became sulphuric. The box was empty. The train did not carry express, and the strong box was simply being brought back to the city for its next trip.

When the robbers found that all their toll had been in vain they retired from the car and held a consultation. They then took the conductor's money and the watches carried by the engineer and fireman, and, extinguishing their lanterns, shouted good night to the conductor and disappeared. The obstructions were hastily removed and the train came through without further adventure.

The passengers were badly frightened. The sheriff of Allegan county has been notified and is scouring the county for the robbers, with assistance from Ottawa and Kent county officers. A liberal reward will be paid for the apprehension of the robbers. Conductor Rice is sure he can identify them if he sees them again.

CAPTURE A TRAIN.

Nebraska Train Robbers Take Regular Possession.

North Platte, Neb., Aug. 21.—Bandits captured the Union Pacific east-bound overland flyer about midnight last night. The engine was cut off and sent forward in the regulation Jesse James order, while the outlaws looted the train at their pleasure. The train held up was No. 8. It left North Platte at 11 o'clock, and carried a full complement of coaches, sleepers, and express cars. The robbery occurred an hour later.

The country in the vicinity of the hold-up is fairly well settled, and the authorities anticipate no trouble in following the outlaws. All were heavily armed, and a conflict is quite probable. The robbers blew open the express car with dynamite after using the engineer in vain to help get it open. The fireman was on the engine and ran it to Gothenburg for assistance, followed by a straggling volley.

OHIO DEMOCRATS.

Senator Brice Thought to Be Able to Control the Convention.

Springfield, O., Aug. 21.—Democrats of Ohio gathered by hundreds yesterday for the state convention to-day. The emphatic reiteration by ex-Gov. Campbell of his refusal to take the nomination and the almost simultaneous announcement that Paul J. Sorg was here heightened the interest in ante-convention talk. Neither announcement had the effect of changing the quotations on Campbell stock, as the delegates believed that Campbell can be forced to take the nomination and Sorg cannot.

The state central committee met in the evening and organized by electing M. A. Smalley of Upper Sandusky chairman; Col. Joseph Dowling, Dayton, vice-chairman, and Senator James Caren, Columbus, secretary. The chairman, secretary and Senator A. R. Vaucler of Circleville were appointed a committee to draft rules. They adjourned to meet in Columbus at the call of the chairman.

When the committee on resolutions met ex-Congressman Frank Hurd, who is as radical for a gold standard as for free trade, was made chairman, and it was found that there were only three free silver men on the committee of twenty-one members. The other committees were all strongly Brice organizations. The committee on resolutions appointed a sub-committee of five to draw up a platform on which the opposition was given a representative, and which was instructed to reaffirm the national financial plank of 1892, which Senator Brice says the president and Secretary Carlisle had interpreted to mean a gold standard. It was also instructed to indorse the tariff bill passed by the last Congress and the national administration and the record of Senator Brice. The platform will arraign Gov. McKinley's state administration severely and point to the revival of business as the effect of Democratic rule and legislation, and to the depression of 1893 and 1894 as the effect of previous Republican legislation.

Want an Immediate Trial.

Princeton, Ill., Aug. 21.—The agreement between Attorneys Gibbons and Murphy, for the defense, and State's Attorney Johnson, for the prosecution, that the eighteen Spring Valley men on trial should waive preliminary examination is repudiated by Attorney Lovejoy, of the defense, who was not present at the time the agreement was made. Mr. Lovejoy demanded an immediate trial for the eighteen men, and Justice Fisher has taken the matter under advisement. State's Attorney Johnson claims that the justice has already bound the men over, and that he cannot legally change his order.

Kills a Noted Outlaw.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 21.—Last night at 11 o'clock John Wester Hardin, the terror of the Mexican border, was shot and killed in the Acme saloon in this city by Constable John Sellman. Hardin had in his lifetime killed nine men and served eighteen years in prison for one of his murders. While in prison at Huntsville, Tex., he studied law and was admitted to the bar on his release from prison nearly two years ago. Several months ago he held up a faro game in this city. Sellman, the slayer of Hardin, is the officer who killed the outlaw Bass in this city a year ago.

French and Italians Fight.

Marseilles, Aug. 21.—A serious riot has occurred between French and Italian workmen employed in the salt works at Berre, sixteen miles northwest of Marseilles. The fighting was of a most desperate character, and five men were seriously wounded before the police could quell the riot.

SIX MEN DROWNED
AND YACHT LOST*SMALL STEAMER FOUNDERS IN THE HARBOR.

Party of Thirteen Had Been to Niagara For a Day's Outing and High Waves Filled the Boat On the Return Trip—Seven Saved Out of the Company.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The fifty-seven foot steam yacht Rung Brothers, owned by the Burley Brothers, of this city, foundered early last evening between the inner government light-house and the Reading coal trestle. The following six men were drowned:

ALBERT STAFFORD.
FRANK CANNON.
FRANK BUGMAN.
JACOB BAUMAN.
HENRY SHINGLER.
CHARLES FISHER.

All the occupants of the boat were employees of the New York Central Stock Yards at East Buffalo, and had formed part of a party of thirteen men who went down the Niagara River in the morning for a day's outing. After passing the best part of the day at various Grand Island resorts, the yacht was headed up the river for home. Four passengers were landed at the foot of Ferry street, and the captain made his course for the foot of Genesee street, the point of starting. In doing so he was compelled to cross the lower end of Lake Erie in a spot not protected by the breakwater. A high wind had been blowing all day, and there was a big sea on. Caught in the trough of the waves when near the Reading coal trestle, off the foot of Georgia street, the yacht careened to one side, filled rapidly, and went down almost instantly. Some of the party could swim, and they were picked up by one of the harbor tugs that was passing. The sunken boat was comparatively new and was reputed to be a good craft in rough weather, having made duck-hunting trips up the lake last fall when all the other boats in the port were in winter quarters.

MINNIE WILLIAMS IS ALIVE.

Holmes Received a Telegram from Her Yesterday.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 21.—W. A. Shoemaker, attorney for H. H. Holmes, received a telegram yesterday purporting to come from Minnie R. Williams, one of Holmes' alleged victims. It reads as follows:

"Providence, R. I., Aug. 19, 1895.—The report that I was murdered is absurd. I am alive and well.

"MINNIE R. WILLIAMS."

When the message was shown to Holmes he said excitedly: "I knew my story that I did not kill the girl would be confirmed." He brushed tears from his eyes, and continued: "I am sorry, however, that she has made herself so public by telegraphing. She might as well have written."

ASSAULTS A CHILD.

Residents of an Illinois Town Looking for a Brute.

Naperville, Ill., Aug. 21.—Yesterday afternoon while Nellie Beldeiman, the 12-year-old daughter of Benjamin Beldeiman, with her younger brother, and other children were playing she was seized by a stranger who carried her off. The rest of the children ran home and gave the alarm. While they were doing this the fellow assaulted the girl, leaving her in an almost unconscious condition, and fled. She is sure she can identify the brute if he sees him. The entire city is aroused and the country is being scoured far and near. Should the culprit be found lynching is feared.

Peculiar Accident at Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—A peculiar accident occurred at No. 13 Spring street in which three persons were injured, one of them dangerously. It was caused by the explosion of some quicklime. The injured are Mrs. Kate Pfeiffer, Joseph Pfeiffer, her son, aged 8, and Robert Pfeiffer, aged 17. Mrs. Pfeiffer had requested the boys to whitewash the house and fences about the yard. The lime was put in a tub, but no one can tell just how the explosion happened. The hot lime flew in all directions. The faces and hands of the mixers were blistered and boiled. Mrs. Pfeiffer and the boys had all been standing about the tub when the explosion.

Shot Him to Save Himself.

Galveston, Texas, Aug. 21.—Emma La Rose, the pretty 25-year-old wife of Al La Rose, a saloonkeeper, is in jail for shooting and probably fatally wounding her husband. Prior to the shooting La Rose was whipping his wife. He had blacked her eyes and bruised her up considerably by his brutal blows. Then he rushed to his trunk for his revolver, but she got her pistol out of her sewing machine drawer first and fired at her husband. She shot twice, and he is thought to be fatally wounded.

Gold Reserve All Right.

New York, Aug. 21.—The bond syndicate turned $2,000,000 in gold into the sub-treasury yesterday. This brings the net gold reserve to over $100,000,000, after deducting the amount withdrawn for shipment to Europe.

DEFENDER'S RIGGING
BADLY STRAINED*HAD TO DRAW OUT OF YESTER-DAY'S RACE.

New York Yachtmen Uneasy Over the Prospect—Slacking Up of the Wire Stays Was So Serious As To Require a Week For Repairs.

New York, Aug. 21.—The first formal trial race between the Defender and the Vigilant to give the America's cup committee an opportunity to decide which boat should be named to defend the cup was held yesterday outside of Sandy Hook in the same waters where the cup race will take place. An accident prevented the Defender from really showing what she could do in a breeze that went over the water probably at the rate of twenty knots an hour. The breeze stirred up her rigging so much that it loosened it to a material extent, doing such damage that the Defender had to withdraw or take a liberal chance at carrying away her topmast. It was afterward found that the slacking up of the rigging was so extensive that the yacht would not be able to compete in the second trial race for a week. Yachtmen are considerably alarmed over the accident.

FOR KILLING BANNOCKS.

Department of Justice at Washington Ready to Act.

Washington, Aug. 21.—The question of what action should be taken by the government in connection with the killing of the Bannock Indians in Jackson's Hole country on July 13 last has been referred to the department of justice. It is understood the attorney-general was asked to send special agents to Jackson's Hole, and that the services of the Indian inspectors would be offered as assistants. Agent Teter, probably, will not form part of the commission, as he has taken so prominent a part in the troubles that the settlers are greatly prejudiced against him.

It is believed the arrest of certain settlers by the United States authorities has been recommended, so that the case may be brought into court and the relative weight of the treaty with the Bannocks and of the laws of Wyoming may be judicially determined.

Ellensburg, Wash., Aug. 21.—Eight persons are under arrest here on the charge of being implicated in the recent lynching of the Vinasons, father and son. They are Mike Lander, Frank Ubelocker, William Kennedy, John Busey, Frank Fiegele, Robert Linkel, Frank Schuller, and Henry Dewscourt.

DETAILS OF THE EXPLOSION.

Six Men Were Killed in the Carnegie Plant at Bessemer.

Pittsburg, Aug. 21.—Those killed in the Bessemer accident were:

STEVE HAVRELA, cut in twain; 32 years old, leaves wife and two children.
JOSEPH TUCKAY, 38 years old, burned; leaves wife and four children.
JOSEPH COPP, burned; 32 years old, single.

JOHN MEKA, burned; 25 years old, single.

JOHN POKOPOVEC, burned; 25 years old, single.

JOHN GRUCHA, burned; 30 years old, single.

All were Poles and Huns except Grucha, who was a German. Nine of the injured were brought to the Mercy hospital in this city. They are reported to be resting easy.

The terrible loss of life was due to a peculiar cause. A few minutes before the explosion occurred one of the top-filers dumped a barrow of material into the bell of the furnace, which he had forgotten to raise. This clogged the top of the furnace and prevented the gas escaping. A gang of sixteen men, in charge of James Harrison, were sent at once to the top of the furnace to remove the obstruction. All were closely crowded around the bell of the furnace removing the material which had been dumped on it, when there was a terrible explosion, and the men, barrows, tools and material were hurled in all directions. Flames, deadly gases and smoke belched from the furnace top and the gang of men fell as if shot.

Only one man was killed instantly. He was blown from the furnace top, along the metal roadway to the elevator shaft, and fell, striking on a car; he was cut in two, one half of his body falling on one side of the car and the other half on the other side.

The explosion was heard all over Braddock and crowds at once rushed to the scene, but none expected to witness such horrors. A relief crew was quickly organized and went to the top of the furnace, where lay fifteen men, bleeding, torn, burned and dying. The flames and smoke were still coming from the furnace and the work of rescue was dangerous in the extreme, but, covering their hands, faces and heads with cloths, the rescuers went bravely to work. The injured men were all leaning over the mouth of the furnace when the explosion occurred. Three men died before they reached the bottom of the elevator shaft and the other six died between 5 and 8 o'clock. Five of the men were so badly burned and terribly injured that the physicians did not deem it necessary to remove them to any hospital, as death seemed inevitable in a few hours and no hospital could relieve their sufferings. Two of the men who were on top of the furnace, when they reached the ground were revived, and, there being some hopes for their recovery, they were taken to their homes. The belief is that the furnace is badly damaged and may have to be rebuilt. It should be the case the total damage will be $30,000. The scene as the men were carried to the office of the company was intensely exciting and pathetic.

Women and children rushed frantically from their houses and the large force of policemen and guards was powerless to prevent them from rushing into the improvised hospital and dead-house in the search for some member of their families. Tears and lamentations, anxious faces and agonized expressions, wringing of hands and tearing of hair were all witnessed around the scene of death and destruction and the stoutest hearts were moved to pity. The homes of the killed and injured men were near the furnace and the streets in that vicinity were filled with a mass of weeping, frantic half-crazy women and children.

Chasing Indian Outlaws.

Wilcox, A. T., Aug. 21.—A troop of cavalry has been sent to the Horn Basin country in pursuit of a band of Indian outlaws who have been committing depredations in that region for several months. A squaw arrived here yesterday who says she was captured by the band, who murdered her mother, and forced her and her papoose to accompany them. She finally escaped, and rode night and day until she arrived here to report the matter to the authorities. Several other murders are said to have been committed by the outlaws.

Embarrassed for Funds.

New York, Aug. 21.—A special cable dispatch to the Herald from Havana, says that the government has asked the Spanish bank of the Island of Cuba for $15,000,000 to pay war expenses. The bank answered that it could not furnish the money. A meeting of the board of directors was then held, and a plan was discussed with the government, that the bank should issue notes to the amount of $15,000,000 in denominations of tens, fives, and ones, the issue to be guaranteed by Cuban paper.

HAVE FOUND FIFTEEN.

Work on the Ruins of the Gumry House Suspended.

Denver, Col., Aug. 21.—Work on the ruins of the Gumry hotel has been suspended and the search for bodies discontinued until the walls, which threatened to topple over and bury the workmen, could be pulled down. It is believed that there are at least ten more bodies in the ruins, and several days will probably elapse before all can be recovered. Fifteen bodies have been taken from the ruins. Fire Chief Roberts says that he saw Elmer Loesher, also known as Pierce, the young engineer, whose carelessness caused the explosion, walking rapidly away from the scene of the disaster about ten minutes after the fire department arrived. Detectives are searching for him. S. A. Abbey, supposed to have been among the dead in the Gumry disaster, turned out to be alive. He is at Pueblo.

A close watch will be kept. Tens of thousands of dollars' worth of property is in great danger of being swept away.

OREGON HAS A SCHOOL WAR.

Village Stirred by a Proposition To Occupy the Public Square.

The people of Oregon, that placid village a stone's throw from Evansville, are being agitated over the question of removing their school house on the land now used as the village square, and the courts have been called on to take a hand in the settlement of the controversy. President Netherwood and the other village officials decided recently to remove the school house to the square, which would be more central and afford more room. The land to be used was bequeathed to the village several years ago, by one Waterman, who made it a condition of the bequest that the land should be used as public park, and his heirs objected to its being used for school purposes. Judge Siebecker in chambers Monday afternoon granted a temporary injunction restraining the officials from making the removal. The case will come up for final determination in a few days.

HERE'S A CHANCE FOR JAGUARINA

Ernest Peibe, Amateur Champion of Illinois Wants a Match With Her.

Mme. Jaguarina, the athletic lady who gave the broadsword exhibition at the Caledonia games here and who styles herself "World's most expert broadsword fencer and military equestrienne," and says she will meet any man in Chicago with foils and broadswords, can, if she feels inclined, get on a private contest with Ernest Reibe, amateur champion fencer of Illinois. The latter does not wish to appear in public with a professional, thinking it would affect his amateur standing and proposes to meet Jaguarina before twenty-five or thirty spectators with foils and broadswords and as an inducement will pay the reputed champion a fair price for the pleasure of meeting her at an assault at arms.

GYPSIES TOLD TO MOVE.

Chief Acheson Notifies Them To Get Out of Town.

For some time past the city has been a stopping place for the numerous bands of roaming gypsies, who have been passing through southern Wisconsin on their way west. A short time ago a band of them staked off a camp near Athletic park. They stayed a week, and had no more than departed when in came another lot with their numerous horses and wagons, and camped in the same place. Spring Brook became weary of its visitors, and Chief Acheson notified the leaders yesterday to move on. During the afternoon the procession started for the west.

The arm began to swell and a doctor had to be summoned. The poisoned arm is now carried in a sling and is very painful.

GIRL SAT ON HIS LAP AND BROKE HIS LEG

CHARLES DAMROW HURT IN A PECULIAR WAY.

Terrors of Courtship Increased by the Result of an Accident That Happened on the Devil's Lake Excursion—Was Necessary to Have a Surgeon's Aid.

Wasn't it enough to say kissing carried microbes? Must all joy perish? Seems so.

The young women who sit on masculine laps might as well know at once that they are putting loved ones in peril.

How grievous the peril is shown by Charles Damrow's case.

Damrow is in bed with the tendons of his right knee broken. A buxom, 180 pound girl weeps to think that she is responsible.

Young men have held 180 pound girls in their laps before and escaped unhurt—except, of course, in the way of occasional breach of promise suits. They will take just such risks in the future, but when they do they will buy accident insurance tickets.

Damrow's accident happened in a peculiar way. He went on the excursion to the Dells the other day. All went well until the train was near this city. Then the young lady who sat beside him went to the other end of the car for a drink of water. It struck him that it would be a good time to stretch out and he did so. He was reclining at full length, gazing out the window when his seat mate returned. She slipped up to him and a jerk of the car threw her into his lap with considerable violence. There was nothing to resist the strain. His legs were straightened out, and the right knee, on which most of the weight fell bent back with a dull snap. Damrow screamed with pain, his friends ran to his side and it was found that his right leg was almost useless. He was taken home soon as possible. At first it was thought that the joint had been strained merely but the pain grew more severe and Dr. Q. O. Sutherland was finally called. He found that tendons about the knee had been parted and that the injury was likely to prove serious.

SUMMER SONG.

Sing me a song of the summer time,
Of the fire in the sorrel and ruby clover,
Where the garrulous bobolinks lit and chime,
Over and over.

Sing me a song of the strawberry bent,
Of the black cap hiding the heap of stones,
Of the milkweed drowsy with sultry scent
Where the bee drones.

Sing me a song of the spring head still,
Of the dew fern in the solitude,
Of the hermit thrush and the whippoorwill
Haunting the wood.

Sing me a song of the gleaming scythe,
Of the scented hay in the buried wain,
Of the mowers whistling bright and blithe
In the sunny rain.

Sing me a song of the quince and the gage,
Of the apricot by the orchard wall,
Where bends my love Armatage,
Gathering the fruit of the windfall.

Sing me a song of the rustling, slow
Sway of the wheat as the winds croon,
Of the golden disk and the dreaming glow
Of the harvest moon.

A HOLIDAY TRAGEDY.

All my life I have been—well, not exactly a woman hater, but a firm believer in the idea that man is the lord of creation, and that woman is not an absolute necessity. For many years it was my proud boast that I was able to dispense with feminine aid and yet live a very enjoyable life, as, with clockwork regularity, I went from my bachelor lodgings to business each morning, returning in the afternoon and spending the evening at the club or some place of amusement. The idea of having a lady companion in my rambles never entered my head.

True, my landlady—good old soul—prepared my meals and cleaned my rooms, but that was because I had not time to do it myself, and a manservant was beyond my means. But in all else I dispensed with woman's aid. Boot cleaning, sewing buttons on, lighting the fire, etc., were all done with my own hands—nay, at a pinch I have even washed a pocket handkerchief.

I desired to stand forth as a living example of the original Adam and a proof of the superfluity of the modern Eve. But my misguided companions refused to profit by my teachings or to follow my example. One by one they fell under female influence, one by one they married, and then—I cut them dead. Ah, me, those free bohemian days were happy ones, as year after year I pursued my adopted course in spite of the continual falling off of my comrades. Then came a time when my circle of acquaintances had decreased so considerably that I began to feel lonely. Bachelor chums were more difficult to find than ever. To loneliness succeeded melancholy, and I grew miserable and pessimistic.

One friend, to whom I laid bare my woes, said:

"You keep to yourself too much. What you ought to do is to lodge with some family where there are two or three grown up daughters. They would wake you up a bit."

This, to me, the hitherto ideal advocate of an Evesless Eden! And yet, after the advice had been tendered several times, I began to think that such a change might be beneficial. Such a course need not involve the rendering up of my tenets; but, as woman still formed a part of the world, she might at least contribute to my amusement. So, after very serious consideration, I decided to seek fresh apartments, with light society thrown in.

Now my troubles commenced. I could not make the direct inquiry, "Have you any grown up daughters?" So I generally viewed the rooms, listening to the landlady's verbiage, settled the rent, and then casually asked, "Have you any children?" and the reply would be: "Yes, four," "five," or "six" (as the case might be); "the eldest is 10 years old and the youngest two months. But they are as good as gold and never make a bit of noise."

The numberless journeys I made and the many desultory conversations I listened to were all to no purpose. No one appeared to possess grown up daughters—the eldest was always 10. Just when I was about to abandon my search, fortune—or was it fate?—led me to Myrtle Villa, Paradise gardens, Upper Dulwich. The door was opened by a vision of loveliness, faultlessly dressed, and with bright blue eyes and golden hair. "Newly married," thought I. "Well, here at least the eldest won't be ten!" She invited me in, and then disappeared, a middle aged lady entering directly after. We proceeded to discuss terms. Then came the inevitable inquiry as to children.

"I have two grown up daughters, the younger of whom opened the door to you."

At last! Need I say that, within a week, I was installed in Myrtle Villa? The landlady, a widow, was a genial, homely woman, and the youngest daughter, Annie, aged 25, I have already described, but the other daughter, Julia, did not impress me favorably. She was neither good looking nor pleasing, and, without being exactly bad tempered, always insisted upon having her own way.

I now seemed to be in a new world. My boots bore a brilliant luster each morning without my aid, and my slippers were laid ready for me in the evening, and as for lending me a needle and cotton—the idea—if I would only leave them outside, they would only be too happy.

I no longer needed to seek relaxation at the club after the labors of the day. Julia played the piano well, her only accomplishment, while Annie sang divinely, and thus the evenings passed all too quickly. Male acquaintances they did not seem to possess. Yet, stay, there was one—Mr. Malcolm, whose name I frequently heard mentioned, but as his calls were always made in the daytime I never saw him. I had rapidly passed into that condition of mind which raised a feeling of jealousy on his account, so one day I questioned my landlady on the subject.

"Oh, he's a very old friend of ours. Once we thought he would have proposed to Julia, but nothing came of it."

So time went pleasantly on, and then—how can I confess it?—my lifelong creed was thrown to the winds, my proud ambition humbled in the dust, and I became a willing slave to the sex I had so long despised and ignored. My only thought now was how and in what words I should beseech my darling Annie to become my wife. Time after time I was on the point of speaking, but Julia always turned up at the critical moment.

One evening Julia announced that a week thence she had an engagement to play at a concert. Then burst upon me a brilliant inspiration. I purchased two stall tickets for the Lyceum for that same evening, and making pretense that I had had them given to me I persuaded Annie to promise to accompany me. This time Julia would not be able to intrude, and I should know my fate. In two months' time I should be taking my summer holiday, which would fit in just nicely for the honeymoon.

On the eventful day I hastened homeward with a queer fluttering in my heart and a flower spray for Annie in my hat. Julia opened the door, and hardly permitted me to enter before she informed me that Annie had been out in the hot sun and had been obliged to go to bed with a very bad sick headache. My fluttering heart gave one huge bound and then seemed to stand still. However, to disguise my feelings, I said:

"I am sorry, and you have to play at the concert?"

"No," she replied, "the concert has been postponed."

"Then may I beg the pleasure of your company? I did not ask you before because of the concert engagement."

"Thanks! I shall enjoy it immensely."

What a miserable failure that evening proved to be! I do not even know what the play was called. I was thinking all the time of my poor, sick darling, and not of the acting or the woman who sat by my side wearing the flower spray that was meant for Annie.

The words were still unspoken when my holidays arrived, and tearing myself away from the two sisters who stood at the gate and waved their handkerchiefs as long as I remained in sight it was with no feelings of joyful anticipation that I betook myself to Hastings for rest and recreation.

Rest! Where could I find it? Not on the parade or pier amid hundreds of couples promenading, as I had pictured Annie and myself doing; not on the beach, where the Ethiopian musicians were eternally playing "Annie Laurie," "Sweet Annie Rooney," and "Annie, Dear, I'm Called Away." For a whole week I wandered aimlessly hither and thither. Then I could stand it no longer. So I wrote a long letter commencing "Darling," and pouring out the impassioned, pent up love that comes but once in a man's lifetime, I besought and beseeched her to take pity upon me, or my lifeless body should surge in the billows that beat relentlessly on the rocks of Beachy head.

When I had finished, I happened to catch sight of a photograph which I had purchased the previous day, representing one of the yachts preparing to start on her morning trip, with my own figure in a prominent position in the bow. "Ah," thought I, "I'll send that to Julia."

If it were possible I had now less rest than before, night or day, while waiting for the answer. Rising in the morning with haggard looks and burning brow, the other boarders would remark that the sea air did not seem to agree with me, while under the mask of assumed indifference there raged within me the fiercest volcano that ever burned in the heart of man.

At last the reply came, and, bounding up to the privacy of my own room, with trembling fingers I tore open the envelope which hid from me—life or death?

"Dearest, I am yours forever. I cannot say your proposal was unexpected, for I have felt that you could mean nothing less over since that evening when you so openly expressed your preference by taking me to the theater."

What, where! I looked at the signature, "Julia." Oh, heavens, I saw it all! I had placed them in the wrong envelopes and sent the letter to Julia and the photograph to Annie! How I raged and fumed and tore my hair, until at last, in sheer exhaustion, I sank into a chair and endeavored to finish reading the letter.

"Annie thanks you very much for the photo, and she desires me to tell you that yesterday Mr. Malcolm proposed to her and was accepted. We will have the two weddings on the same day. Won't that be nice, dear?"

Nice! This was the last straw. Nice indeed for me to be married to a woman I did not care for, and at the same time to see the one I loved given to another man. I cannot remember what I did for the next hour or two beyond cursing my foolishness and swearing I wouldn't marry Julia. Then, when I became calmer, I saw an action for breach of promise looming. I thought of all my hard earned savings of years being swept away by a sympathetic jury to heal Julia's broken heart. There was no escape for me. She had my letter, which simply commenced "Darling," and as no name was mentioned in it from beginning to end was it possible that any body of intelligent men could be brought to believe that I intended it for Annie when I addressed the envelope to Julia? No, no! I must go through with it. I would marry Julia. Yes, and I would teach her that man is the lord of creation, and that woman is but a helpmate and not an equal, and so, in my married life, triumphantly assert those principles which I had held so long.

Julia married me at the same time and place as Annie became Mrs. Malcolm. I now spend my evenings endeavoring to solve a difficult problem, and that is, Why do they call woman the weaker sex?—London Tit-Bits.

ONE YEAR OF CO-OPERATION.

Their Motto Is "United to Relieve; Not Combined to Injure."

The experiment of organizing a society on the co-operative plan in Knoxville and Allentown is now a year old. The other night the first anniversary of the Integral Co-operative association, composed of people in that community, was celebrated with an entertainment in the Allentown Turner hall. While the association has a membership of only 123, there were 700 people at the celebration. The programme consisted principally of vocal and instrumental music by good local talent. President J. Edward Chesley made a speech, in which he told of the progress the movement had made. Mr. Chesley is an enthusiast, who believes the world is slowly but surely resolving itself into one mighty social organization, in which the Golden Rule will be universally practiced, and in which everybody will buy groceries at one common supply house at cost. During his talk the president called attention to a large streamer stretched across the hall, on which was painted this motto: "United to Relieve; Not Combined to Injure." In fact, this sentiment was the keynote of his short speech. He declared that the "old boat of competition is sinking, and the lifeboat of co-operation is coming to the rescue." He explained the value of co-operative effort, as illustrated by the grocery owned and conducted by the association at 48 Washington avenue, Thirty-first ward. He said that all the storerooms now occupied by stores in excess of those absolutely necessary to supply the people was a waste of rent. His theory is that all profit made by the stores which the community could get along without is a species of robbery, and that the patrons are the people robbed. In connection with the printed programme was a statement of the condition of the co-operative grocery. From these figures it would appear that the weekly sales are $385, and that there has been a gain in the assets of the grocery of $415.42 since it has been running. The balance sheet shows that the store invoices $1,022.23 in merchandise and $484.30 in fixtures, with $134.79 cash on hand. The Bellamy Association, which is an outgrowth of the Integral association, now owns a toy factory and employs sixteen people.—New York Sun.

Not on the parade or pier amid hundreds of couples promenading, as I had pictured Annie and myself doing; not on the beach, where the Ethiopian musicians were eternally playing "Annie Laurie," "Sweet Annie Rooney," and "Annie, Dear, I'm Called Away." For a whole week I wandered aimlessly hither and thither. Then I could stand it no longer. So I wrote a long letter commencing "Darling," and pouring out the impassioned, pent up love that comes but once in a man's lifetime, I besought and beseeched her to take pity upon me, or my lifeless body should surge in the billows that beat relentlessly on the rocks of Beachy head.

When I had finished, I happened to catch sight of a photograph which I had purchased the previous day, representing one of the yachts preparing to start on her morning trip, with my own figure in a prominent position in the bow. "Ah," thought I, "I'll send that to Julia."

If it were possible I had now less rest than before, night or day, while waiting for the answer. Rising in the morning with haggard looks and burning brow, the other boarders would remark that the sea air did not seem to agree with me, while under the mask of assumed indifference there raged within me the fiercest volcano that ever burned in the heart of man.

At last the reply came, and, bounding up to the privacy of my own room, with trembling fingers I tore open the envelope which hid from me—life or death?

"Dearest, I am yours forever. I cannot say your proposal was unexpected, for I have felt that you could mean nothing less over since that evening when you so openly expressed your preference by taking me to the theater."

What, where! I looked at the signature, "Julia." Oh, heavens, I saw it all! I had placed them in the wrong envelopes and sent the letter to Julia and the photograph to Annie! How I raged and fumed and tore my hair, until at last, in sheer exhaustion, I sank into a chair and endeavored to finish reading the letter.

"Annie thanks you very much for the photo, and she desires me to tell you that yesterday Mr. Malcolm proposed to her and was accepted. We will have the two weddings on the same day. Won't that be nice, dear?"

Nice! This was the last straw. Nice indeed for me to be married to a woman I did not care for, and at the same time to see the one I loved given to another man. I cannot remember what I did for the next hour or two beyond cursing my foolishness and swearing I wouldn't marry Julia. Then, when I became calmer, I saw an action for breach of promise looming. I thought of all my hard earned savings of years being swept away by a sympathetic jury to heal Julia's broken heart. There was no escape for me. She had my letter, which simply commenced "Darling," and as no name was mentioned in it from beginning to end was it possible that any body of intelligent men could be brought to believe that I intended it for Annie when I addressed the envelope to Julia? No, no! I must go through with it. I would marry Julia. Yes, and I would teach her that man is the lord of creation, and that woman is but a helpmate and not an equal, and so, in my married life, triumphantly assert those principles which I had held so long.

Julia married me at the same time and place as Annie became Mrs. Malcolm. I now spend my evenings endeavoring to solve a difficult problem, and that is, Why do they call woman the weaker sex?—London Tit-Bits.

What makes you think you are qualified to become a baseball umpire? Are you brave? Have you ever put down a riot?"

"No, but I have acted as a judge at a baby show."—Town Topics.

It Makes Us Shudder

To think of chills and fever. But when we really have it—supposing us to be so unfortunate—our frames undergo a series of shocks which bear a close analogy to those produced by an earthquake. Roasted next, we are drenched by perspiration afterward. Truly a delectable condition of things. But how easy to remedy and how speedy! The certain means of relief is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Tested as well where malaria is prevalent in its most virulent forms, as where it takes on a milder guise, it has proved itself to possess both a remedial and preventive efficacy of the highest order. In South America, Guatemala, Mexico and the Isthmus of Panama no less than throughout the North American continent, its success as a means of forestalling and relieving malarial disease has been unparalleled. Use the Bitters for dyspepsia, constipation, bilious and kidney trouble, nervousness and debility.

YELLOWSTONE PARK.

Again there is danger of a railroad through the Yellow Stone park. Such an innovation would be fraught with danger in two ways, not to mention the vulgarizing of the place by the invasion of steel rails and locomotives.

There is hardly any doubt that big game would be driven entirely away from that portion of the park through which the line would be laid, and that much of it would escape beyond the limits of the reservation only to fall a prey to hunters outside.

As this park is the most important preserve of the nation, and almost the only place where elk and buffalo are preserved in any numbers, the loss to the American people would be incalculable from this one result alone.

Another danger which would attend the building of a railway would be that of fire. Captain Anderson, commander of the park guard, has stated that "in six months from the entrance of the first locomotive within the limits of the park there would not remain one acre of its magnificent forests unburned."

The aesthetic consideration should be hardly less important. The park is one of the wildest and most beautiful regions in the entire country. It is the National Park, selected for the purpose of preserving for many generations a piece of nature in her most imposing form and to give it over to railroad speculators would be to destroy three fourths of its charms.

A SHORT CAMPAIGN.

Why not try the short campaign idea next spring. Whether the issue be the money question or the tariff, the people need no long campaign of education, for they have been under the instruction of experience, in this instance a severe course, for the past three years. Their memories will retain with little refreshing the lessons learned until next election. The only serious opposition to this advisable change will probably develop among the free silver democrats, who will hope against hope that in a campaign of longer duration they might nullify the stern lessons of the past and cause the majority of the democratic party to accept the false teachings of the white metal school in place of sound money principles. It is hoped that their attempts will be unavailing, and that in 1896 the issues between the two parties, whatever they are, may be settled in a brief contest and the decision of the people quickly reached. In this way business will escape its quadrennial check, a result especially to be avoided just as the present commercial and industrial revival reaches a vigorous stage.

CHINA OBJECTS

So China doesn't want the Anglo-American joint commission prying into her affairs? It may be necessary to teach the children of the Flowery Kingdom a lesson in international obligations. Swift and exemplary justice meted out to the actual offenders by the magistrates of the vicinity in which the outrages have occurred, will exercise a more wholesome restraint upon fanatical mobs and be more conducive to the immunity of foreign residents from future violence, than will any diplomatic palaver at Peking, and the Chinese authorities must be made to realize this fact. They are far too prone to purchase peace with a pecuniary compensation, instead of making efforts to insure security and justice to foreign residents in the empire.

The extension of civil service to the entire agricultural department is another victory for good business principles. The wisdom of separating the roue agent and executives of the government from the influence of elections and limiting changes to those who represent politics is so apparent that it is only a question of time when appointments will be made on account of fitness and discharges will be only for cause.

There is the tear movement in wheat that is always engineered about this time by the great grain buying syndicates. Quantities of wind wheat are being thrown on the board of trade for the purpose of reducing the price of actual grain. The capital is so immense and the system so complete that speculative element on the bull side seems powerless against it.

In the highest courts this oleomargarine matter is to be tested. If pig-fat and beef renderings cannot be palmed off on hotel and boarding house guests something is the matter with our boasted American liberty.

Boston laughs at expense and will heat its trolley cars by electricity next winter. The inventor who will make the electrical heating of cars less costly has a gold mine.

Asylum Investigation Begun.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 21.—There was nothing sensational developed at the investigation of the management of the county institutions, which was begun at Dunning yesterday. All signs of active personal warfare between the opposing factions in the county board which made the meeting of Monday so lively had disappeared with the cool breezes of Tuesday morning, and the members of the board sat out the day in harmony, so far as outward indications were concerned. It was shown that the attendants at Dunning were in many cases unfit for their positions, and some cases of extreme cruelty were proved, but the allegations of wholesale murders committed at the institution were not upheld. The investigation will continue for some days.

Brave Chicago Policeman.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 21.—Policeman William H. Gleason, of the Warren avenue station, rescued two children, Lena and Richard May, from a burning building at 1028 Fulton street yesterday afternoon. After carrying out the children he returned and searched the building for other occupants. While thus engaged both stairways burned away, and he was compelled to leap from a second-story window. He was not seriously injured.

A NEW DYSPEPSIA CURE.

Over 6,000 People in State of Michigan Cured in 1894 by this New Preparation.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the new discovery for stomach troubles, is claimed to have cured over 6,000 people in the state of Michigan alone in 1894. These tablets have become so popular with physicians and people who have any form of indigestion that they have the endorsement of such physicians as Dr. Harlandson and Dr. Jennison as being the safest, most reliable remedy for sour stomach, chronic dyspepsia, gas, bloating, palpitation, headache, constipation, and in all cases where the appetite is poor or the food imperfectly digested.

It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any kind of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. They are not a secret patent medicine but composed of vegetable and fruit essences, pure pepsin, Golden Seal, ginger and the digestive acids. They are pleasant to take, can be carried in the pocket, and they cure because they digest the food promptly before it has time to ferment and poison the blood.

Druggists everywhere sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages, at 50 Cents. A book on Stomach diseases and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing The Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

TWICE DIVORCED—Divorces and marriages do not seem to come in the same order in Henry Wadsworth's case. The divorce suit brought against him by his first wife, Mrs. Mary A. Wadsworth, has just been decided in favor of the plaintiff by Judge Bennett. Mr. and Mrs. Wadsworth were married by Elder Kinney in Janesville in 1869 and lived together thirteen months, according to the testimony. Later Wadsworth went with other girls in Evansville and finally married. He and his second wife were divorced six years ago. Mrs. Wadsworth No. 2, lives in Green county and has one child, a little girl. Wadsworth moved to Northville N. Y. several years ago, and when orders for alimony were sent to him he paid no attention. His mother owns the Evansville House, in Evansville and he was helping run the house when he was married.

GOOD BAND—How many people who listened to the open air concert in the court house park last night, realized that they were hearing one of the best bands of the state? The Imperials, under Al. Kneff's able instruction, have made wonderful progress, and the organization is one that the town can be proud of.

BAD STRAIN—Will Bonesteel fell over a wire while delivering groceries for Tarrant & Osgood and strained the ligaments of his arm so badly that he now uses a sling. The accident happened in front of Rev. E. H. Pence's home on Washington street, and the injured boy was taken to Dr. E. F. Woods' office for treatment.

ODORS CHECKED—Swinging doors are being put on the drains leading to the Myers House sewer. Water from the gutters will open them, but the back pressure of bad air won't, it is hoped.

OLD SOLDIERS MEET TO FORM A SOCIETY

ROCK COUNTY VETERANS AT EVANSVILLE TODAY

In Connection With The Reunion of The Thirtieth Regiment, an "Old Soldiers Association" Will Organize With Janesville as the Headquarters.

JANESVILLE and Rock county veterans gathered at Evansville today, and a patriotic organization will be the outcome of their meeting. The session is the reunion of the Thirtieth Wisconsin regiment of volunteer infantry, but in connection with the reunion, an Old Soldiers' Association of Rock County will be organized. The good old county of Rock has been backward in this particular, as about every county in the state now has such an organization. The veterans in this part of the state had never formed such a society, but the idea came to some of the old soldiers, and they began to agitate it. Consequently, notices were sent out to all the Grand Army posts, and many of the veterans as individuals, inviting them to attend the Thirtieth's reunion at Evansville and help organize. The result was, that a big crowd visited that village today.

Janesville To Be the Gainer.

The idea is to have every man who fought for his country in the late period of self-sacrifice and suffering, inscribe his name on the roster and join the association. The universal idea seems to be to have the headquarters of the association in Janesville, this city being the most central point in the county, and hold a picnic and reunion in the Bower city each year, the idea being that Janesville could be reached by all interested, much easier than any other city in the county. There are many veterans in Rock county and there is no organization to hold them together other than the Grand Army post. The society would favor all posts as well as all individuals uniting into one body and their yearly outing would be an event to be looked forward to from one year's end to the next. The idea of holding the meeting in connection with the Thirtieth reunion was a peculiarly happy one as it would bring many of the veterans together who might not otherwise come. The organization will probably be perfected this afternoon and the Janesville contingent will return at 6:25 o'clock.

The Janesville Delegation.

The Northwestern depot presented a lively appearance this morning when the Evansville passenger pulled out. The Janesville delegation planned to go overland but last night decided to go by rail. Among those who went were:

Dr. J. E. Whitting, E. B. Helmstreet, B. R. Hilt, C. H. Lee, J. M. Burnham, W. H. Witham, W. H. Campbell, L. H. Lee, J. A. Lee, F. E. Pellant, J. L. Bear, S. C. Burnham, J. K. Lee, H. M. Weaver, J. K. Kneels, William Ruger, L. M. Nelson, W. F. Williams.

There are many veterans in Rock county, some of the companies enlisted being as follows:

Company K. First regiment known as the "Beloit City Guards," Captain, W. M. Clark, Lieutenants, F. P. Northrop and N. W. Smith.

Vallee's battery, Beloit, Captain John F. Valle.

Company D. Second regiment, Captain George B. Ely, First Lieutenant A. B. McLean and Second Lieutenant Dana D. Dodge. This company was raised in the city of Janesville, and was the first company of volunteers raised in Rock county. It was mustered into service June 11, 1861 and was mustered out July 2, 1861.

Company E. Fifth regiment, Captain H. M. Wheeler, First Lieutenant H. R. Clum and Second Lieutenant James Mills.

Company G. Sixth regiment; Captain M. A. Northrop, Lieutenants G. L. Montague and W. Allen, enlisted at Beloit.

Company K. Seventh regiment, Alexander Gordon, G. L. Hoyt and John M. Hoyt; Lieutenants F. W. Oakley, F. W. Sherrill and others. This company was also enlisted at Beloit.

Company G. Eighth regiment, Captain W. B. Britton, First Lieutenant C. P. Ring, Second Lieutenant R. D. Beamish. This company was made up of recruits from various parts of the county, the Janesville fire department, etc., was one of the "crack companies" of the famous "eagle regiment."

Formation of the Regiment.

The formation of the regiment that met to renew old acquaintances today, was proposed at the close of the five days fight around Richmond, at a meeting held in Janesville, to devise means to strengthen the union cause. Senator Hamilton Richardson and Rev. H. C. Tilton were appointed a committee to confer with the governor and the regiment was organized. It consisted of six companies from Rock county exclusively and the balance from Green and Walworth counties. It was mustered into service October 17, 1861 and mustered out in 1865. The companies and their commanders were as follows:

Company A., "The Ruger Guards" Edward Ruger, captain; L. F. Nichols, first lieutenant and William Ruger, second lieutenant.

Company B., Edwin E. Woodman, captain; James L. Murray, first lieutenant and George C. Brown, second lieutenant.

Company D., E. W. Blake, captain; Simon A. Couch, first lieutenant and N. D. Walters, second lieutenant.

Company F., F. F. Stevens, captain; S. S. Hart, first lieutenant and Nicholas Crossen, second lieutenant.

Company G., A. M. Randall, captain; H. M. Ballis, first and E. W. Taylor, second lieutenant's.

Company K., Pliny Norcross, captain; J. H. Wemple, first lieutenant and A. D. Burdick, second lieutenant.

Companies E. and F. of the Thirtieth regiment were also raised in Rock county and officered as follows:

Company E., Ira Miltimore, captain; H. S. Swift, first lieutenant and P. H. Swift, second lieutenant.

Company F., A. E. Wemple, captain; W. L. Scott, first lieutenant and C. W. Stark, second lieutenant.

Company E., Twenty-Second Infantry, Isaac Miles, captain; Calvin Reeves, first lieutenant and Gage Burgess, second lieutenant.

Artillery and Cavalry.

E. G. Harlow made an application to the adjutant general of the state for power to enlist an artillery company, in the county but was refused on the ground that the service was already full, but finally received authority to enlist one. The recruiting office was at G. R. Curtis' drug store and within forty-eight hours the company was made up with twelve men to spare. The company went to the front at once and was mustered out June 26, 1865. The officers were: E. G. Harlow, Jr., first lieutenant; Marcus Amnden, second lieutenant.

In the cavalry branch, Rock county furnished men to make up two companies, M. of the Second regiment and E. of the Third. The officers were: Company M., Captains Nathaniel Parker and Freeman A. Kimball; First Lieutenants, Freeman A. Kimball, John Baxter and George W. Walters; second lieutenants, John C. Metcalf, George W. Taylor, John Baxter and George W. Taylor.

Company E., Captain Ira Justice, Jr., and Alexander M. Pratt and De Witt C. Brown. The first lieutenants were Alexander M. Pratt, Leonard House, A. C. Kent, William Culbertson and Thomas O. Drinkhall. The second lieutenants were Leonard House, A. C. Kent, William Culbertson, John C. Lynch and William Ellis.

ILER JAILED FOR SUCKING EGGS

Janesville Tough Gets in Trouble in Madison and Is Locked Up.

Thomas Iler, who says he hails from Janesville went to jail for fifteen days in Madison. He broke open the screen door of H. B. Wheeler's kitchen on West Washington avenue and took a quart of milk and half a dozen eggs from a refrigerator. The charge might have been made burglary, but in view of Iler's being drunk and partially irresponsible the district attorney made the charge a light one.

MUCH Y.M.C.A. MONEY BEING HELD BACK

BUILDING COMPLETED BUT CAN'T BE OPENED.

Gift of $5000 Not Available Until Those Who Have Made Smaller Subscriptions Pay Up—Board of Directors Issue An Explanation and An Appeal.

An explanation of the delay in opening the Y. M. C. A. building—now practically completed—was given out today. It is as follows:

The board of directors of the Young Men's Christian Association desire to state publicly their reason for not entering at once the new building and giving to the young men of our city the privileges and opportunities which it would afford. The board have been beset on every hand with the question:

"Why do you not open that building, as it is practically completed?" Our answer has been for a month or more:

"Because of the negligence of so many of the subscribers in paying their subscriptions, all the way from one to one hundred dollars."

The Judge Sale proposition that ten persons give $500 each has been completed for some time but this $5000 is not payable under the conditions until all the other subscriptions are paid and there shall be left no indebtedness on the building when theirs is paid. We have on our books pledges unpaid sufficient to meet all of those conditions and the delay in the payment of them is the only reason for not opening the buildings at once and realizing an income from the same.

If all those who have pledged subscriptions and on the strength of which the board have proceeded would see to it that they were paid, the building would be speedily opened and the work forwarded. The responsibility in this matter does not rest upon us but on those whose pledge still unpaid keep the building closed.

The delinquent subscribers have all been personally notified of this condition of things and the board deem it but fair that those of the public who have so generously paid their pledges promptly should know the exact situation. Respectfully, Board of Directors,

J. H. CUNNINGHAM, Sec'y.

AUTUMN FASHIONS.

The Newest Sleeves—Opera Cloaks of Glace Silk.

Several new sleeves are seen on the latest gown models, a winged style being perhaps the favorite. The puff stands out in two winged godets and adapted preferably to transparent materials like gauze and muslin. For the latter material the bishop, gigot and one which shows the shape of the top of the arm and is full above the elbow are styles of sleeve much employed.

The costumes prepared for autumn have some new features, sufficient to give them an agreeable air of novelty. In some of them the modification of the sleeve is more marked than in others, but undoubtedly this is the portion of the dress which is likely to undergo the greatest change in the coming season.

Bodices are shown so long on the shoulders that the sleeves are set in much below the curve of the top of the arm, some of the gowns thus made being quite plain, with the sleeves themselves of the gigot form. Others have sleeves gathered in with several rows of shirring to fit closely over the curve of the shoulder, the shoulder seam of the bodice being of the usual length. This style is used more particularly for house dresses just now, but will doubtless come into general wear.

Dust and opera cloaks are of great elaboration and exquisite coloring. Glace silk is the preferred material, in changeable tints. The skirts and sleeves are made very full. Some cloaks hang loosely from a yoke of embroidery and jet, while others are drawn in at the waist. Both styles have large cape or pagoda sleeves and are trimmed with ruchings and lace. Long, white ostrich boas also are now worn at the opera.

The gown of which a picture is given is of gray and green stripe silk with pink flowers intermingled. The skirt has godets and is untrimmed. The close bodice has no belt and is finished with a slight point back and front. A fichu of white silk gauze trimmed with lace covers the shoulders and bosom and fastens in front under a knot of pink satin. The guimpe of pink satin may be omitted or replaced with one of lace. The half length balloon sleeves are draped under a knot of pink satin and finished by a frill of white lace.

Salt and Pepper For Digestion and the Complexion.

Most imperfections of complexion are due to digestive disturbance, and it is stated that salt and pepper used in moderately large quantities will often produce beneficial results in such cases. Spices, however, are to be avoided, and cayenne pepper likewise.

A skirt which has become too short may be lengthened without spoiling its appearance by adding a bias band of the same goods around the foot. This may be finished with rows of stitching, or bands of ribbon or passementerie may be placed over the line of junction. Where the front breadth alone is too short, as sometimes happens when the skirt has been badly fitted, it may be ripped out and lengthened at the top by means of a narrow, pointed yoke, fitted smoothly over the figure and stitched down. This is rather an addition to the skirt than otherwise and may be covered with passementerie if it is desired, with excellent effect.

When the nails are in good condition, a few minutes' care and attention daily will keep them so. Every time the hands are washed, the flesh at the base of the nails should be pushed back with the towel, and a very few minutes' rubbing with chamomile skin, with powdered pumice stone moistened with sweet oil, will polish the nails. The finest polish is given by an hour's rubbing with the hand, but this is too long a process for most persons. The water used for washing the hands should always be softened with a few drops of ammonia or a little borax. Both hands and face should be carefully washed with fine soap and warm water the last thing before retiring at night. Many women believe that the less the skin is washed the softer and smoother it will be, and that soap should never be put on the face, but dust is infinitely worse for the complexion than water, and the use of soap is the only way to keep the skin entirely free from accumulations that will result in dinginess, if not disfigurement.

An illustration is given of a large hat of white fancy straw. The brim is lifted on the left side and the crown is rather high. Under the brim is a twist of amberine velvet which passes through a paste ring on the left side and forms a bow. A bias band of velvet is draped around the crown, and mauve plumes are clustered at the sides.

One Little Fault.

A Bostonian of mark has lately distinguished himself greatly, and letters and telegrams of congratulation have been pouring upon him from various parts of the world. These have been the subject of conversation at the breakfast table, and the Bostonian's little daughter has heard of them. The other day she said to her mother, with a pathetic air of concern:

"Mamma, do you suppose all those people would think so much of papa if they knew that he sometimes puts his elbows on the table?"—Boston Transcript.

An Awful Fix.

Husband of Authors—My dear, you are famous now. Your picture is in the paper.

(Authors takes one glance and bursts into tears.)

Husband—Why, my dear, what is the matter?

Authors—The horrid things have made me with a last year's bonnet on.—Texas Siftings.

An Ichthyological Mystery.

The reason none can understand. But examples there are in plenty—One pound is the weight of the fish you land—And the fish that escaped weighed twenty.—Chicago Record.

WHAT HE WOULD DO.

Country Policeman—Move on now, or I'll club the top of your head off!—Judge.

Ruined by an Amateur.

Friend—You look blue, doctor. Doctor—I am blue! I took a month's vacation, leaving my practice in the hands of a newly-graduated physician, and when I return I find my practice completely ruined.

Friend—Didn't know his business, eh? Doctor—No. He actually cured every patient I had.—Puck.

The Lawyer Had Seen Her.

"I want to leave the company," said the actress.

"Why don't you?" asked the lawyer. "Because the manager threatens to sue for damages if I do," replied the actress.

"Damages!" exclaimed the lawyer. "Nonsense! He wouldn't have any sort of a case."—Chicago Evening Post.

A Little Wise Caution.

First Burglar (at the back window of big store)—I've got the hole big enough now, and we can get in without any more trouble.

Second Burglar—All right; come ahead; but don't make so much noise. Some o' these ere watchmen might happen to be awake.—N. Y. Weekly.

A Defense.

New Suburban Resident—When you sold me these lots you said nothing about that swamp. You did not tell me that my whole family would have malaria.

Real Estate Agent—My dear sir, would you have me try to make any man dissatisfied with his home?—Life.

The Proper Caper.

Van Jay—The bridegroom was to meet the bride at the church.

Hortense—But what did the bride do when the bridegroom did not put in an appearance?

Van Jay—She left the church without any ceremony.—Brooklyn Life.

Happy Thought.

She (on the evening of the wedding day)—O! Harry, just look what a large piece of the wedding cake has been left! Whatever shall we do with it?

He—I tell you what, my dear. I'll end it to the night watchman at our works, then I shall be sure he won't sleep to-night.—Staatsanzeiger.

Looked Only at Results.

"Gracious, Smedley, who's been pulling your whiskers out?"

"My baby did it."

"Heavens, man, you're disfiguring yourself that way."

"Yes, I know, but you see it keeps my baby quiet."—Chicago Record.

His Specialty.

Farmer Hayrake—Did your son learn anything at college?

Farmer Outstrow—Yes; I gave him a hammer to mend the barn with, and he threw it so far I ain't been able to find it.—Puck.

Unconquerable.

Mrs. Jones—Charles has an unconquerable spirit.

Mrs. Smith—Indeed?

Mrs. Jones—Yes; he was two hours knocking the front door early this morning.—Pick-Me-Up.

Fair Warning.

He (nervously)—Who is that tramping around overhead?

She—That's papa. He always gets restless toward morning.—Brooklyn Life.

Longfellow Revised.

No one has such an ugly face

But what some one will in it trace

A charm and make it known

And woo it for his own.

A Sweet Revenge.

A man, with a painful expression of countenance, sat on a dry goods box.

"Are you ill?" some one asked.

"No."

"Have you lost anything?"

"Never had anything to lose."

"What's the matter, then?"

"I'm sitting on a wasp."

"Why don't you get up?"

"Well, that wuz my first impulse, but I got to thinkin' that I was hurtin' the wasp as badly as he was hurtin' me, and concluded to sit here awhile."—Spare Moments.

Good Reason.

Two Irishmen, driving through the country, noticed that many of the barns had weather vanes in the shape of huge roosters.

"Pat," said one to the other, "can you tell me why they always have a rooster and niver a hin on the top av thim barns?"

"Shure," replied Mike, "an' it must be because av the difficulty they'd have in collectin' the eggs."

She Thought So Little of Him.

"Why are you so sad this morning?" asked young Mr. Bloomfield of young Mr. Bellefield.

"I am convinced that my best girl no longer cares two cents for me," was the gloomy reply.

"What makes you think that?"

"I have just received a postal card from her."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

It Remained.

Her head had dropped upon his shoulder.

"If only," he whispered, "thy cheek could remain there forever!"

Little thought he what was to be.

Little thought he until he got home and tried to remove the cheek from his dress coat with ammonia and alcohol.—Detroit Tribune.

Figures Won't Lie.

She fancied how angry her father would be if told that her lover had tarried till three. So she straightway employed all her cunning to try

To garnish the truth without telling a lie. She happily found twelve divided by four would show just the hour their cooling was o'er;

She won, as will all who will mentally delve, And answered: "He left at a quarter of twelve."—L. A. W. Bulletin.

The More Not the Merrier.

"What is the matter, old fellow? You look worried."

"Well, I am. I'm being dunned up hill and down dale by my creditors."

"Oh, you owe a large sum of money?"

"No, but a great many small sums, and debts are like children—the smaller they are the more bother they are."—N. Y. Herald.

A Reasonable Theory.

Physician—Yes, sir; my opinion is that one-half the diseases that afflict humanity are due to overeating.

Friend (reflectively)—It may be—may be. Now I think of it, it is months since anyone was sick at my boarding-house.—N. Y. Weekly.

An Impossibility.

"Young man," said the prison chaplain to the convict, "do you realize that you have blasted your brilliant prospects, thrown away your life, and willfully disgraced your family name?"

"Oh, no; not that!" said the prisoner, stoically. "I couldn't do it; my family name is Smith!"—Puck.

Which He Did.

"As to this wool question," said the wolf, pawing over the young lamb he had caught, "I candidly admit there are two sides. Hence—and he licked his chops—"I am going to take the outside."—Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. Anna Gage, wife of Ex-Deputy U. S. Marshal, Columbus, Kan., says: "I was delivered of TWINS in less than 20 minutes and with scarcely any pain after using only two bottles of 'MOTHERS' FRIEND'."
